

Contrast Use and Dosages:

- Gadavist is the most common contrast agent given in veterinary medicine
- Calculate proper amount of contrast by using the facts on the bottle in conjunction with the patients weight in kg
- Contrast to be given when warranted and discussed with radiologist
- Contrast is almost always given for brain MRI scans
- Contrast may not always be indicated for spine or shoulder MRI exams
- Make sure Veterinary Anesthesia Technician is readily available during administration with doctor on standby in case complications arise